Mrs. Alvarado M. Fuller entertained at tea Saturday afternoon, in compliment to Miss Rose Sweeney of Morganstown, W. Va., who is visiting Captain and Mrs. W. C. Sweeney at their home in Potwin Place. Miss Sweeney is assistant dean of women of the University of West Virginia, where her cousin, Miss Susan M. Moore is head of the girls department. She has been in California during the summer attending the fairs. She has traveled abroad a good many times, conducting parties of college and university girls, and she and a company of young women were in Europe at the beginning of the war. Miss Sweeney is a sister of Captain Sweeney.

The rooms of the Fuller home were decorated with hanging baskets of white clematis. On the tea table was a big gold bowl of daisies, zinnias, lilies and dahlias. Vases of black-eyed Susan stood in the living rooms. All the decorations were of garden flowers from the gardens of some of Mrs. Fuller's friends.

Mrs. Fuller and Miss Sweeney received the callers. Mrs. Fuller was wearing a white linen and embroidered dress. Miss Sweeney wore a dress with a bolero of duchess lace. She carried a little bead purse that has its bit of history. The purse was made by Miss Sweeney's mother and is seventy-five years old. The beads are worked in a pretty design in Dresden colors. Just before the beginning of the war in Europe Miss Sweeney was abroad and she had the purse reset in silver at Rome. Mrs. Sweeney received with the hostess and the guest of honor. She wore white net, with a touch of pink in the trimming. Elizabeth Sweeney, the daughter of Captain and Mrs. Sweeney, stood in the hall and opened the door for the guests. Mrs. A. W. Knowles and Mrs. William Redwood Smith poured tea, assisted by Miss Mildred Fuller and Miss Beth Thompson.

Mrs. S. E. Barber of New York and Mrs. Arthur L. Murphy of Tulsa, Okla., were out-of-town guests at the party. Mrs. Barber was wearing a white crepe meteor with embroidered shoulder cape of white Georgette crepe. Mrs. Murphy's gown was net with pink satin girde, and her hat was of purple velvet, trimmed with a pink plush moth.

Mrs. W. R. Smith, who assisted at the tea table, was wearing an organdie voile, figured with lavender flowers. The gown was a late summer costume, and the hat was of lavender velvet. Mrs. Knowles, who also poured tea, wore a pretty summer frock, and with it a coral necklace with coral pendants. Mrs. Adelaide Smith was wearing a white lace. Her hat was of black velvet with an ostrich trimming. Mrs. D. W. Mulvane wore a dainty summer gown of pure white, with lace trimming. Mrs. J. M. Connell was wearing in cream-yellow taffeta, with bolero. Mrs. A. W. Bronson wore a lavender flowered organdie, and her hat was trimmed with sweet peas and pansies. The bolero of the gown was edged with double ruffles of lavender satin.

The brass baskets filled with clematis between the doors of the parlors formed a pleasing decoration.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Crumline arrived Sunday to visit Mr. Crumline's parents, Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Crumline. Mr. and Mrs. Crumline were married the second of September in Geneva, Ohio, and they will be in Topeka a short time before they leave for San Francisco, to embark for Shanghai, China, where they will make their home.

Dr. and Mrs. Crumline are asking guests for an informal reception September 17, Friday, when friends of the bride and bridegroom will meet them before they leave for the Orient; also the party will celebrate the wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. Crumline.

The Minerva club is arranging a course of study for the year which will take up, in the literary department, the modern American and English drama, and in the music department, nearly all the music will be modern works. Miscellaneous programs in music will be given, in which home composers will be recognized a good deal.

The local writers will also receive attention in the literary department. A play written by Mrs. Myra Williams Jarrell will be the subject of one of the programs.

Miss Maym Parsons gave an auction-bridge party this afternoon, at which Miss Dorothy Harrington of Beaver, Pa., was guest of honor. Miss Harrington came to Topeka lately, and will enter Washburn college. She will be with her aunt, Mrs. Alice Love, this winter, and the affair this afternoon was to introduce her to some of Miss Parsons's girl friends. The name cards for the luncheon were in water colors done by Miss Parsons.

The company included: Miss Harrington, Miss Dorothy Crane, Miss Ruth Larimer, Miss Elizabeth Edson, Miss Frances Gaw, Miss Marjorie Roby, Miss Lucille Rosen, Miss Frances Ford, Miss Gertrude Ford, Miss Dorothy Crichton, Miss Elsie Cuthbert, Miss Lillian Glesner, Miss Anita Weiskirch, Miss Ruth Tomlinson, Miss Virginia Kitchell, Miss Nellie Stanford, Miss Helen Bennett, Miss Christina Ward, Miss Lucille Bomgardner, Miss Ruth Tandy and Miss Parsons.

Opens New Sample Shoe Department

in connection with the regular shoe department

Opens Tomorrow Morning

Some time ago we closed contracts with manufacturers of Men's, Women's and Children's Shoes for their entire output of samples and surplus stock at discounts of 1/3 to 1/2.

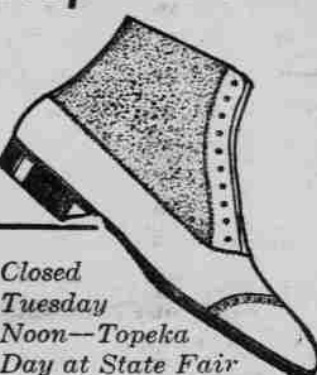

Every shoe factory has traveling men. Each traveling man carries ONE Shoe of every pattern in the line. This makes one pair of each shoe for every two salesmen. As these shoes are sold the samples are called into house and mated up and sold as samples. In years gone by these shoes were all made on the smallest lasts, but now most factories make them on the most common sizes to facilitate the sale of the samples.

Every shoe factory has surplus stock, caused by various reasons. They have orders cancelled after the goods are cut, and they become possessed of shoes in other ways which cannot be sold in the regular way owing to the variety of the quantity and sizes.

These are the shoes which will fill our sample department. By virtue of the contracts already signed we are assured of a large supply of these goods at all times. They are bought far below the regular price and are offered to you at a saving of
